Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Thursday 30 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Rain in many places at times tonight. Very mild.

This Evening and Tonight:
Early evening rain over North Wales and northern England spreads northwards into Northern Ireland and parts of Scotland. Further south, many parts seeing spells of rain during the early hours. Very mild away from northern Scotland. Turning windier.

Friday:
Cloudy start for many with some rain in the north and east. Many parts becoming drier and brighter, but rain persisting for parts of Scotland. Windy and very mild.

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Changeable with occasional rain or showers. Rather windy for most but the exceptionally mild conditions at first will be replaced by temperatures nearer average by early next week.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.